

NOVEMBER 10, 2022 WORLD QUALITY DAY

The second Thursday of November has been celebrated as World Quality Day for over 30 years.

In 2022, it is celebrated on November 10th.

Belarus, which has made quality one of the most important priorities of the state economic policy since the moment of its independent development, is an active participant in this worldwide campaign.

In our country, this year this holiday is celebrated under the motto “Belarusian quality is the merit of everyone and everyone!”.

It should be especially noted that in Belarus the traditions of quality have a fundamental basis and state support. Quality in our country is considered in the context of the success and well-being of not only a particular organization, but also the economy as a whole.

The work carried out in the republic provides conditions for the high quality of the “Made in Belarus” brand, trust and recognition of domestic goods and services in the domestic and export markets!

As part of the European Quality Week and World Quality Day, the Polotsk CSMC expresses its gratitude to the specialists of all enterprises and organizations that guard compliance with the requirements of standards, protecting the interests of consumers, ensuring that product quality is high and reliable, and our life is safe!
