

November 11 - International Day of Energy Saving

Belarus became one of the first 20 countries to support the celebration of this day in 2008. The purpose of this action is to raise awareness of the population about possible ways and methods to improve the efficiency of energy use, including in everyday life, in everyday life, which is one of the important measures to improve the welfare of citizens and the economic growth of the country as a whole.

Information materials are posted on the website of the Energy Efficiency Department of the Gosstandart (energoeffekt.gov.by), and social videos on energy conservation are posted on the Department's official YouTube channel.