On January 29, Polotsk CSMS held an educational excursion for students of grade 6 "A" of Novopolotsk Secondary School No. 12.

During the excursion, the children had a unique opportunity to visit the enterprise's laboratories. They learned about the verification and calibration processes of various measuring instruments, such as scales, thermometers, pressure gauges, barometers and others. This gave the students an idea of the importance of accurate measurements in various industries.

A particularly memorable moment of the excursion was the tasting of cheeses and dried fruits in the testing department. The children were asked to determine the organoleptic properties of various products. The center's specialists shared useful information on how to choose safe food products. They talked about the importance of product labeling, drawing attention to how important the information on the packaging is for consumers.

As a memorable souvenir, all participants of the excursion were presented with reflectors with the Polotsk CSMS logo. These bright accessories will not only remind the children of visiting the center, but will also help them be more visible on the street, which is especially important for their safety.

The excursion was not only educational, but also interesting, leaving the children with many pleasant impressions and new knowledge about quality and safety standards.
