

The Decade of Cybersecurity will be held in Belarus from May 27 to June 5

The program of the decade includes lectures and seminars where experts will talk about common types of IT crimes, give practical advice on how to protect yourself from intruders and save money during financial transactions, the Interior Ministry noted.

The staff's attention will be focused on vulnerable categories - the elderly and children. Employees will remind minors of the rules of behavior in social networks, messengers, and online games. The most common offenses of teenagers on the Internet and responsibility for such actions will be discussed at school meetings with teachers and parents.

The Ministry of Internal Affairs reminded that every user should understand that it is completely impossible to remove digital traces on the network. Therefore, impunity and anonymity, which the organizers of criminal schemes allegedly promise, are just tricks