In 2022, the State Standard banned the import and circulation of 1,381 items of dangerous products in the republic. The goods did not meet the safety requirements established in the technical regulations of the Customs Union (EAEU), as well as the declared characteristics.

The "leaders" in the anti-rating were electrical products, food products, goods for children and adolescents.

Toys, light industry goods, and personal protective equipment are also among those frequently banned.

By the way, in 2022, after the identified inconsistencies were eliminated, the State Standard allowed the import and circulation of 72 types of products in the republic.
